About AEC

The weakest link as far as cybersecurity is concerned is the human factor, which often stems from mere misunderstanding. The Security Academy therefore combines the use of state-of-the-art technologies with aspects of teaching and psychology. It contains not only comprehensive subject matter comprising elaborate videos, e-learning and detailed on-line training, but also a range of other unique methods that can make such an impression on trainees that the topic of cybersecurity will become a natural part of your organisation's culture.

We are experts with thirty years of project and training experience behind us, which enables us to explain the psychology of attackers and thus realistically portray security threats based on everyday situations.
